DIRECTOR'S NOTE

Like most things here at the Limelight Theatre Company, Have All Voted Who Wish? started off as a concept experimenting in hilarity. The thought of a political satire for children was enough to commence giggling all by itself. To have been able to write it, rehearse it, and finally, perform it, has been a wonder all on its own. From day one, the actors have digested it and took every bit of the uncomfortable and outrageous in stride. On stage, they have been able to animate the power and ability politicians and media outlets have governing and manipulating the society we live in. It is important that from time to time, we step back and examine where we are and where we want to go—and take a deep breath of laughter whenever we can. We've communicated that in this show, and we thank you for attending tonight's performance!
