Limelight has created a Radio Division that will present radio dramas based on classic films, literature, and even some original works and adaptations. The premise is that you are watching a group of actors (possibly from a different time period) performing the radio drama to be broadcast on air. While we do not record or broadcast our productions, we get to step back in time, and enjoy the charm of a classic radio broadcast. These shows require minimal sets and costumes. The actors do not need to memorize lines or blocking (movement), so they can focus all of their attention on creating a dynamic and interesting character with his or her voice. Some actors in these radio dramas portray several characters, differentiated by their voices.

Another exciting element of these productions is the team of foley artists set up to produce live sound effects. These effects include big and attention grabbing sounds that are essential to the plot (like a gunshot or thunderous storm), as well as the ambient background sounds that add depth and character to a scene (like tinkling glasses, shuffling papers, or ambient conversation). These sounds are created in many clever ways using all kinds of objects. Some items are used in a conventional way to produce a familiar sound and others are put to new use to provide a surprising effect.

Director’s Note

We welcome you to continue the story between our dynamic sleuth couple, Nick and Nora, as they try to solve another case. Our journey picks up after Nick and Nora finish their last case, and Nick promises Nora he will hang up his detective hat. Only they find themselves thrown into a new case involving Nora’s cousin. These actors have taken the time to prepare for you a world of mystery surrounded by uniquely funny and interesting characters. As an audience member, I hope you sit back, enjoy, and imagine you are right there, solving this case with Nick and Nora. Will you be the one to discover this latest tale of ‘Who Done It’? Thank you for coming and enjoy the show.
