Ellen Paul for sharing her talents, professionalism, and makeup.

DIRECTOR'S NOTE

"I regard the theatre as the greatest of all art forms, the most immediate way in which a human being can share with another the sense of what it is to be a human being." - Oscar Wilde

Steel Magnolias has always been one of my favorite movies. When we were discussing possible shows to produce that would showcase our immensely talented actresses, it was the first and only show that came to mind. It has humor, it has depth, and it has characters that are dimensional, flawed, loving, and human. We get to see them at their best and at their worst, and most importantly, we get to see them together.

To my cast and crew, you have no idea how wonderful you all are.
