

THE FALL RADIO PLAY SERIES CONTINUES:

ALL PLAYS ARE AT 7:00PM AT THE LITTLE WHITE SCHOOL MUSEUM
TICKETS ONLINE: $8 ADULTS, $6 STUDENTS/SENIORS · $2 MORE AT THE DOOR

A group of women fly to remote Alaska for a weekend getaway at a lakeside lodge, but get more than they bargained for when something mysterious begins howling in the woods. An original horror show from limelight.

See how it all began for Nick and Nora in this prequel, an original Limelight radio production based on characters created by Dashiell Hammett, a mystery set against the construction of the Golden Gate Bridge in San Francisco Bay.

COMING SOON FROM LIMELIGHT THEATRE CO.

As the annual show and tell day approaches, a rag-tag team of middle school friends plan a heist to snag a classmate's prized possessions: a collection of snow globes from around the world. Will it be the perfect crime, or will the gang be caught red-handed? Find out in this "global" affair.

DIRECTOR'S NOTE

Unlike many of the stories we tell here, dark noirs which are governed by people acting on their darkest desires in a world with few consequences, Mr. Smith Goes To Washington stands out for its' raw idealism. In a time filled with corruption and indifference, nothing is more refreshing than watching a character fight all the whole way through on nothing more than an intense, unshakeable desire to do right: by his country, by those around him, and by his own moral compass. We hope this production captures that same sense of optimism.
